

MYOB Exo

MYOB Exo Business Serviceable Units module

Better manage and track the end to end process of servicing items.

MYOB Exo Business Serviceable Units allows you to control and track the full service history of any item, from internal equipment with regular maintenance schedules, to external units that need servicing under warranty. MYOB Exo Serviceable Units is well suited for a broad range of medium sized and larger businesses including those that use serial tracking, repair and maintenance, and managing repairs under warranty businesses.

Serviceable units module

If your business uses serial numbers, Exo Serviceable Units will track the purchase and sale of an item plus any applicable warranties, service schedules and post-sale client communication using the serviceable unit's module. Exo Serviceable Units will also manage the servicing and/or repair of the item using the job costing module, providing an end to end service solution.

Track and link warranties

Link items to warranties and attach the relevant documentation so it's easier to see the warranty status of items 'at a glance', as well as store all data in one central location.

Plan service schedules to suit your needs

Using a scheduling tool that acts as a daily planner, service managers can easily see what items are due for service or have expiring warranties. This allows them to proactively contact clients and help optimise customer service.

Store a complete service history of units

MYOB Exo Serviceable Units creates and stores a complete history of units with all the jobs performed on them, allowing you to access job details quickly and report clearly on costs, margins and outlay.

Key features and benefits

- + Serviceable units module records a full service history on all stock items
